Abstracts

Global Malt Extract Market Size is valued at $13.8 Billion in 2024 and is forecast to register a growth rate (CAGR) of 3.6% to reach $18.3 Billion by 2032.

The Malt Extract Market is witnessing robust growth due to the surging demand for natural sweeteners and flavor enhancers in the food and beverage industry. As consumers increasingly seek alternatives to refined sugars, malt extract is emerging as a popular choice for its distinct taste and functional properties. The trend toward home baking and artisanal food preparation is also fueling demand, with bakers using malt extract for its ability to enhance the texture and flavor of baked goods. Additionally, the rising interest in health and wellness is prompting manufacturers to explore innovative formulations that incorporate malt extract, driving market expansion as consumers seek clean-label, high-quality ingredients in their food products.
